

assemble the whole world of rational minds before his bar like a GOD; he will examine all souls like a GOD.

He will compare the qualities of every heart with his holy law like a GOD; he will weigh every action of every soul with the greatest minuteness and accuracy like a GOD; he will give eternal life like a GOD; he assures us on the word and honour and oath of a GOD, of the certainty, the nature, and the eternity of heaven.

He will doom to hell like a GOD; he will fix in hell every wicked soul like a GOD; he swears by his own eternal existence to the certainty of hell, the nature of hell, and the eternity of hell, as it consists in the loss of an infinite good, in feeling a stain and torment of the soul through an infinite duration. Thus we rise up to absolute and invincible demonstration, that Christ is the true, the supreme, and most absolute LORD GOD. We have the names of JEHOVAH, GOD, and LORD, to evince his divinity: we have infinite attributes to support those names: and we have infinite works to support those attributes; and it now only remains for us to shew that we have divine and proper worship to support those works of creation, providence, and redemption.