

as I have observed the nature and import of spiritual invitations and promises, they are made to hungry, thirsty, naked, trembling, helpless, indigent, self-condemned and self-despised individuals. Thus I think, and thus I assert; “and if it be not so now, who shall prove the contrary, and make my speech nothing worth?” Job xxiv. 25.